
APA Division 15 - Educational Psychology

Early Career Research Grants, 2023

Division 15 (Educational Psychology) of APA is pleased to announce the call for the Division's research award program for early career professionals or researchers who are working in the area of educational psychology (and who are members of the Division). The award provides financial support for educational psychologists who are in the early phase of their careers as they undertake valuable research activities.

- We encourage early individuals in underrepresented and marginalized groups, located outside the United States, and in research- or teaching-focused positions to apply.
- Due Date: Completed applications should be submitted by no later than 11:59 (applicant's local time) on Monday, June 26, 2023.

Applicant Eligibility Qualifications

To be eligible to apply, individuals must be:

- current members of the APA's Division 15, Educational Psychology.
- working in academic institutions, research and development organizations, or other research venues,
- researchers in the field of educational psychology,
- up to 5 years beyond the conferral of their doctoral degree (i.e., degree must be awarded in 2018 or later). One additional year of eligibility will be granted to those who have had a significant pause in work after conferral of their doctoral degree as a result of family responsibilities, medical leave, or military service.

Individuals who have applied in previous years are encouraged to submit a new proposal to this call. Previous award recipients are not eligible to apply. Individuals who are currently not members of Division 15 may learn about membership here: www.apadiv15.org/join

Monetary Award

The grant provides monetary support of up to $6,000 for up to three selected recipients at the discretion of the funding committee. Funds must be spent and accounted for within two years or returned to the Division. Funds are awarded in one lump sum, to the recipient's institution. Home institutions of awardees are responsible for administering the funds.

What to Submit

Grant Proposal PDF file (titled Last Name.First Name.Institution) containing the information and sections listed below. Sample proposals can be viewed at this link: [Sample Proposals.]

- A title page with address, institution, phone, email, and title of the research proposal.
- A proposal text of not more than four single-spaced pages describing the proposed research and use of the award. This document should be structured using the following sections: Statement of the Problem, Background, Research Question(s), Methods and Design, and Planned

Analyses. The title page, abstract, references, and tables (up to 2) or figures (up to 2) are not counted toward the four-page limit. Please use 7th Edition APA style for all elements.

- Budget outlining how the monies will be expended.
- Timeline indicating start and end dates and project activities.
- Current vita, including date of conferral of doctoral degree.
- Letter of support from your institution—indicating the institution's capacity to administer the funds (if awarded) the grant will not pay any indirect costs.
- Optional: If requesting an eligibility extension, please include a separate document with 1-2 sentences stating your request for an extension, including the year(s) and a general description of the reason.

Send the application electronically in one PDF file to Emily Grossnickle Peterson (epeterso@american.edu) with the subject line "APA Early Career Research Grant Application"

When to Apply

Completed applications should be submitted no later than 11:59 (applicant's local time) on June 26, 2023.

Criteria and Obligations

Applications will be evaluated based on the scientific merits of the proposed work inclusive of – the theoretical grounding of the work, the importance of the research question, the soundness of the methods, and the implications of the potential findings for practice in the area of educational psychology. As noted above, funds are provided as a lump sum to the institution or organization; your institution must agree to be responsible for administering the funds and accounting to the IRS. These funds cannot be used to pay indirect costs; funds are only provided for direct costs associated with conducting the research. Funds may be used to pay for research assistant time, but not for salary or stipends for the applicant. The Division must be acknowledged in any presentations or publications that result from this funding. Awardees will submit a final report at the conclusion of their project.

Please send any questions to Committee Co-Chairs Meca Williams-Johnson (mecawilliams@georgiasouthern.edu) or Emily Grossnickle Peterson (epeterso@american.edu).
